

Do you want to be a Super Hero?

When he was younger one of my Son's favourite questions was; "if you could have any super power, what would it be?" He loved the idea of being a Super Hero.

I think, deep down, we all like the idea of being a Super Hero. Being able to do things others can't, amazing things to help those around you.

Now I can't grant you any Super Powers (sorry) but I can help you do something amazing to help those you love. Best of all there's no need to be bitten by a radioactive spider, hit by a strange space mist, or come from a different planet.

No, your new powers are just going to need a little money; but no need to be a heroic Billionaire playboy looking to save the city with an arsenal of high tech gadgets.

How do these powers sound to you:

If you pass away for any reason your family have the mortgage paid-off, or how about a lump sum of cash to help them out, or both?

If you get some horrible illness and need to take time off work; someone else pays the bills and maybe they clear the mortgage too?

If you have an accident and break a bone (or two – maybe whilst fighting crime?) then someone pays money into your bank account to help ease the financial pain a little?

Now, I know it's not like you can stop a bullet, or run faster than the speed of sound, but they're still pretty useful powers for your family. They'd like you to have these powers I'm sure.

Best of all, there's no need to pay for them in one go. You can rent your Super Powers for just a little each month, you might be surprised how little it could cost to become a Super Hero.

Speak to one of our team of Professional Financial Advisers (think of us as the mentor all Super Hero's seem to have, sort of like Yoda, but in suits) on 01952 815 930, email us at info@summersheaney.co.uk or visit www.summersheaney.co.uk

** Please note – we cannot guarantee any form of comic book franchise off the back of your new powers, nor can we promise your new powers will make you "cool" with your kids. We'd also not recommend actually trying to fight crime.