The importance of affordability

For most of us, buying a home will be the biggest financial decision we'll ever make.

The importance of affordability

When finding a mortgage product that will meet your requirements, both your income and outgoings will play a part.

The EU Mortgage Credit Directive of 2015 introduced stricter lending criteria, which led to mortgage lenders having to take greater steps to check affordability – including on remortgages.

These rules require your lender to check you can afford your repayments, both now and in the future. To do this, they will need information about your income and outgoings. You will have to inform them if you expect your income and outgoings to change in a way that means you'll have less to spend on your mortgage repayments. You will also need to provide your mortgage lender with evidence of your income.

Help to Buy schemes

There are several Help to Buy schemes where the government helps first-time buyers and existing homeowners buy a newly-built home.

Help to Buy schemes

Help to Buy: Shared Ownership

is available to first-time buyers, people who used to own a home but can't afford to buy one and existing shared owners looking to move. The scheme allows you to buy a share of between 25% and 75% of the property's value and you then pay rent on the remaining part. You can buy a bigger share if and when you can afford to.

Help to Buy (Scotland): Affordable New Build Scheme

is available to first-time buyers and existing homeowners looking to move. The home you want to buy must be a new build. You'll be expected to pay a minimum of 85% (which will include any deposit you pay and your mortgage) of the home's total purchase price and the Scottish Government will hold the remaining percentage share under a shared equity agreement.

Help to Buy (London)

is available to first-time buyers as well as homeowners looking to move in the capital. The home you want to buy must be a new build with a price tag of up to £600,000 in any London borough. The Government will lend you up to 40% of the cost of your home, so you'll only need a 5% cash deposit and a 55% mortgage to make up the rest.

Help to Buy Equity Loans (England)

are available to first-time buyers as well as homeowners looking to move. The home you want to buy must be a new build costing up to £600,000. The Government will lend you up to 20% of the cost of your home, so you'll only need a 5% cash deposit and a 75% mortgage to make up the rest.

Help to Buy (Wales)

is available to first-time buyers as well as homeowners looking to move. The scheme provides a shared equity loan to buyers of new build homes with a maximum purchase price of £300,000. The Government will lend you up to 20% of the cost of your home, so you'll only need a 5% cash deposit and a 75% mortgage to make up the rest.

Forces Help to Buy allows service personnel (both first-time buyers and homeowners looking to move) to borrow up to 50% of their annual salary, to a maximum of £25,000. This can be used towards a deposit and other costs such as solicitor's and estate agent's fees. Those eligible include all regular service personnel who:

- have completed the prerequisite length of service
- have more than six months left to serve at the time of application
- meet the right medical requirements.

Costs involved

It's easy to underestimate the costs involved when buying a property.

Costs involved

Valuation fee

Lenders may ask you to pay a valuation fee. The type of valuation you choose will depend on factors such as the age and condition of the property.

Application/Arrangement fee

These are the costs your lender will charge you for arranging your mortgage. Some lenders will allow the fee to be added to your mortgage, but this means you will be charged interest on it over the mortgage term.

Legal costs and fees

The fees charged by a solicitor will include their conveyancing fee (i.e. for the transfer of land ownership), as well as charges for legal registrations and other miscellaneous costs (known as disbursements) such as local search fees and Land Registry fees. Some lenders may offer to finance some or all of your legal costs as an incentive.

Higher lending charge

If the amount you wish to borrow is greater than a specified proportion of the property's value (typically 75%), you may incur a higher lending charge.

Early repayment charge (ERC)

Lenders may charge an ERC if you make an overpayment in excess of any stated limit, if the loan is repaid early or if you remortgage during the early repayment period. This can sometimes amount to a significant cost, so you should always check the early repayment terms in the offer letter from your lender.

Deeds release or exit fee

Lenders may charge a fee to release the deeds of a mortgaged property to you or a new lender.

Our advice fee

Before we get started, we will explain how we will be paid for arranging your mortgage.

In England and Northern Ireland, you can be liable to pay Stamp Duty Land Tax when you buy a residential property or a piece of land. In Scotland you will pay Land and Buildings Transaction Tax and in Wales you will pay Land Transaction Tax.

If you purchase a residential property between 8 July 2020 to 31 March 2021, you only start to pay SDLT on the amount that you pay for the property above £500,000. These rates apply whether you are buying your first home or have owned property before.

What else do you need to know?

Buying a property isn't just about securing the right mortgage; it also involves solicitors, surveys and insurance.

Buying a property isn't just about securing the right mortgage; it also involves solicitors, surveys and insurance.

Surveying

Before offering you a mortgage, your lender will instruct a survey to confirm the price you're paying for the property is appropriate. The most common types of survey are:

— Basic mortgage valuation

This is for the lender's own purposes to confirm the property provides security for the loan.

— Homebuyer's report

This provides a brief summary of the property's condition.

The report will include comments on any defects and the valuer's opinion as to the property's marketability.

— Full structural survey

This report is the most comprehensive type of survey. It is based on a detailed examination of the property.

Solicitors

You may need to appoint a solicitor or conveyancer to act on your behalf. They will undertake the legal work required to ensure the ownership (title) of the property and land transfers successfully.

If you don't already have a solicitor who undertakes conveyancing work, we can recommend one using a specialist company that provides access to a nationwide network of solicitors.

Some lenders will offer to pay for the basic mortgage valuation as an incentive. You may also want to consider one of the more detailed surveys, depending on the age and condition of the property. In most cases you can use the same surveyor to carry out both surveys, but there's nothing to stop you appointing an independent surveyor should you choose to do so. We can help you do this.

Solicitors, valuers and surveyors are not regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority.

Protecting your Investment

It's important to protect your property, but it's also important to protect yourself and your loved ones.

Buildings insurance

All lenders require you to fully insure your property for the total cost of rebuilding it. Buildings insurance covers your home, as well as its fixtures and fittings.

Contents insurance

Contents insurance protects your household goods and personal property.

Critical illness insurance

This type of insurance policy pays out a lump sum if you're unfortunate enough to be diagnosed with a specified critical illness such as cancer, stroke or heart attack. You can use the cash pay out to clear your mortgage, pay for medical treatment or anything else you might choose.

Income protection

This can replace part of your income if you're unable to work for a long period of time as a result of illness or disability. It will pay out until you return to work, the policy ends or in the event of your death. Income protection plans usually have a waiting period before the benefit becomes payable; the longer the waiting period you choose, the lower your monthly premium will be.

Life insurance

If you die unexpectedly, a life insurance policy will pay out a cash sum to your family. Mortgage protection is a type of term assurance where the amount of cover decreases over the term of the policy, tying in with the outstanding amount on your repayment mortgage.

Mortgage payment protection insurance (MPPI)

Also known as accident sickness and unemployment (ASU) cover, MPPI helps you keep up your mortgage repayments if you can't work because of accident or ill-health. Benefits are usually paid for 12 months, although some providers offer 24 months' cover for accident and sickness only.

Serious illness cover

Serious illness cover pays out a cash lump sum of between 5% and 100% of the total cover, depending on the severity of the illness.
